

The Blue Fund

This book is about the Blue Fund Program, created at the initiative of the African head of States, with the purpose of protecting the Congo Basin against climate warming. It explains the opportunities initiated and the challenges this project will face. The book constitutes a true advocacy for the preservation of the Congo Basin, that needs the support of world leaders and influencers.

As a climato-optimist and eco-visionary, President Denis Sassou N'Guesso, one of the pioneers of the Blue Fund, has engaged for about ten years an eco-climatic diplomacy for the benefit of the Earth.

Through his position, the author paraphrases President Denis Sassou N'Guesso by insisting on the fact that all behaviors tending to discourage the operationality of the Blue Fund is a climatic genocide, consciously or unconsciously planned as the Congo Basin, the second water and forest reserve that supports the consequences of the irrational exploitation of the Earth's resources is part of the humanity's ecological heritage for a bright and hopeful future.

That's why the author expects that the massive support of sponsors for the Blue Fund will be a good reference for other nations in order to stop the barbaric exploitation of the Earth resources.

The multiplication of initiatives and calls from President Emmanuel Macron to sponsors, to large companies, to businessmen, to civil society organisations and activists, to big foundations, to artists, to intellectuals as well as management specialists raises the alarm that aims at escaping a dreadful humiliation for the human species.
